BRITISH LABOR JOINS IN THREAT

Lloyd George Arranges Series of Conferences With Both Sides

BLOW AT ALL LABOR

Radicals Say Leaders Have Betrayed Labor Military Activity Continues—Army Strength to be Raised

London, April 12.—A sensation was caused last night by the issuance of a public manifesto by the Triple Alliance; wherein the definite threat was made that unless the striking coal miners "receive from the mine owners an offer which they are justified in accepting, the triple alliance strike will begin tomorrow.

The document accuses the mine owners with trying to break the unity of the miners' federation and declares that if they were to succeed they would do the same to other workers.

"Supporting the miners means supporting the whole of organized labor," says the document, which then plunges into a strong attack upon Lloyd George and the Government, terming their responsibility for the strike heavier than that of the owners.

Continuing the manifesto says:

"The well being of the nation is threatened not by the miners, but by Mr. Lloyd George and the Government."

It charges the Government with partiality in industrial disputes and attacks the formation of the volunteer force to be used against labor, saying that the Government thus has assumed responsibility for provoking bloodshed and civil war.

The manifesto was signed by Smith and Hodges, on behalf of the miners; Abraham, Cramp and Thomas, for the rail men, and by Gosling and Williams, for the transport workers.

London, April 12.—London breathed freely again today when it became known that the disastrous labor triple alliance strike at least had been postponed. Premier Lloyd George's scheme of conference, cleverly outlined to the miners and the coal owners, should last at least a week, if there is no rupture. The Premier will meet each side separately tomorrow morning and later the joint conference will reconvene.

Already the extremists among the triple alliance are saying they have been let down by Arthur Henderson, J. H. Thoman and J. H. Clines, whom they accuse of having fallen a victim to the Premier's wiles. Consequently the crisis is only being held in abeyance; it is not by any means over.

It is understood that the Prime Minister is planning to tide over the difficulty by a temporary grant to aid the wage expenses of the poorer mines in the hope of an adjustment being reached by the owners and the men for the richer ones. It is complained that this policy merely defers the trouble. If the miners hold out to negotiate only on the basis of a national wage scheme and the pooling of profits, the conference will end abruptly, because Mr. Lloyd George has insisted that the Government will countenance neither solution.

Meantime there is an ostentatious military activity in London. The locked gates of Kensington Gardens are guarded by sailors in fighting kit, while within the walls cavalry is being maneuvered and a fully equipped military camp is being established. Reservists with their bundles, locking gloomy enough in most cases, are reporting to their depots and enlistment of a volunteer defense corps is vigorously pressed.

Wireless apparatus has been set up in Hyde Park in case the telegraph and telephone lines are tampered with. Bands are playing, troops are marching and Londoners generally are being made to understand that under the emergency proclamation the "mailed fist" once more rules the roost.

Supplementary estimates presented to Parliament show that owing to the threatened triple alliance strike it has been found advisable to provide for additions of 300,000 men to the army and 10,000 to the air forces.

Dog Licenses

Beginning May 1 Warrants Will be Obtained For All Who Have No Licenses

Richmond, April 12.—Announcement was today made at the office of the Department of Game and Inland Fisheries here that all game wardens had been instructed to proceed, as of May 1, to obtain warrants for all parties who have not, as of that date, paid taxes on dogs over four months old, owned by them, under their control or on their premises. It was pointed out that the law makes failure to pay dog taxes by May 1 as a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $100. The tax was payable February 1 without penalty, and a penalty of five per cent is imposed by law on dog taxes paid between February 1 and May 1.

Game wardens will, it was said at the Department, make a house to house canvass for delinquent owners and obtain warrants for all parties who have not paid the tax. There will be no exception to this rule, it was announced, and all parties owning dogs are urged to pay the tax before May 1. The warning is in the nature of a last call, officials of the department said.

The law imposes a tax of $3 on female dogs and $1 on males and spayed females. There is also provision for a kennel license, under which parties may pay a license of $10, and keep not more than 12 dogs, and $15 which entitles them to keep an unlimited number of dogs.

Pay your dog tax now and avoid prosecution.

With the formation of Community Advisory Boards of the Salvation Army in thirty-five towns and cities of Virginia, the work of bringing the Army's social service organizations into every part of the state is rapidly approaching realization. The work of these Advisory Boards will be small but of tremendous importance, as has been ably shown in the results of the first year of Advisory Board organization in twenty-four western states of the Union. The boards will bring the Army's uniformed officials, who are skilled in treating downtrodden humanity, into close touch with the cases arising in their communities, and will make such recommendations as will aid in the prompt and satisfactory solution of the cases.

HARDING TURNS DOWN LEAGUE

Urges Rail Rate and Cost Cuts—Asks Curb Tariff Reforms

READS HIS MESSAGE

Unprecedented Crowd Gather to Hear Message—Urges Rail Rate and Cost Cuts

Wash., D. C., April 12.—President Harding in his first address to Congress today announced that he would approve a "declaratory resolution" by Congress "with qualifications essential to protect all our rights" which would end the "technical state of war against the central powers of Europe."

The President added, however that "it would be idle to declare for separate treaties of peace with the central powers on the assumption alone that these would be adequate, because the situation is so involved that our peace engagements cannot ignore the old world relationships and the settlements already effected, nor is it desirable to do so in preserving our own rights and contracting our future relationships."

Although declaring unreservedly against "the existing league of nations," the President said:

"The wiser course would seem to be the acceptance of the confirmation of our rights and interest as already provided and to engage under the existing treaty, assuming of course that this can be satisfactorily accomplished by such explicit reservations and modifications as will secure our absolute freedom from inadvisable commitments and safeguard all our essential interests."

An associations of nations, the President said, could not be founded until the world was at peace.

Following a custom inaugurated by George Washington, abandoned by Thomas Jefferson and revived by Woodrow Wilson, President Harding delivered his first message to Congress in person.

The two houses assembled in joint session in the House chamber to hear the executive outline his views with regard to the many domestic Congress and the Presidency.

President Harding, by appearing in person before Congress today for the purpose of delivering his first presidential message, sets the stamp of his approval upon this old custom abandoned after the time of Thomas Jefferson and only revived in 1913 by Woodrow Wilson. In continuing the old precedent which Mr. Wilson restored, Mr. Harding has done much to fix it for all time as the best possible method of approach between the Chief Executive and Congress, and has made it extremely unlikely that the written message will ever again take the place of presidential messages of importance personally delivered.

The many advantages resulting from the appearance of the President in person to deliver his message to Congress are so obvious that they hardly need recounting. The presence of the President at the opening of Congress lends an air of dignity and decorum to the occasion which cannot fail to be impressive, and which is in marked contrast to the old way of having the message read in a humdrum monotone by a much-bored and hurrying clerk. His presence there, too, to advise Congress on the state of the nation seems to signify a unity of purpose in a common service to the country and makes of the President a human link between these two great branches of the government. By the simple device of going before Congress with the needs of the government and people as he sees them, the President says, "This is our job," whereas under the old written message, he seemed to say, "This is your job." The President appearing in person seems to stand for personal contact, mutual helpfulness, co-operation and unity. The President sending his message by courier and having it read by clerk seemed to stand for isolation, divided effort and lack of liaison.

There are people who are urging President Harding to reverse and undo everything that bears anything of the imprint of Wilsonism. By turning a deaf ear to them in the matter of appearing personally before Congress, the President has served notice that he does not intend to be a rubber ball acting always and only on the rebound. Mr. Harding evidently intends to decide things on their merits and not under the spell of the Wilsonphobia which seems to have cast paralysis over so many minds of the country. And when his decisions are right, regardless of what Mr. Wilson did or did not do, he will have the support of the rank and file of his fellow citizens.

All Our Pomp of Yesterday.

"She leaves her husband, William Hohenzollern, and three children."

These words cabled from the castle in Holland where the ex-Kaiser and ex-Kaiserin of Germany found asylum after those fateful November days of 1918 have reference to the death of none other than the former Queen and Empress of the Germans Augusta Victoria.

America did not wage a war against German personalities but against German principles. She has never entertained any feelings against the Kaiser or his consort or any of his family except in so far as they seemed to embody militarism and Prussianism and danger to world peace. As a tender mother, a devoted wife and a lady of refinement and charm, the death of Augusta Victoria will stir nothing but a feeling of pity among her late enemies. But as the former Kaiserin of Germany, who shared in the short glories and plots of Potsdam, that same death will only give food for thought on the tragic suddenness with which the course of events sweeps away piles of pomp, pride and royal vanities.

and foreign problems pressing for solution.

Pricipalr ecommendations in the President's Message:

No separate peace with Germany.

No helpful society of nations can be founded until peace is established.

Covenant of existing league of nations cannot be accepted.

Readjustment of internal taxes.

Instant tariff enactment for the emergency only.

Railroad rates and costs of operation must be reduced.

Strengthening of laws governing federal aid for good roads.

Establishment and maintenance of a great merchant marine.

Encouragement for civil and military development of aviation.

Immediate extension of government hospital facilities for former service men.

Congress must wipe the stain of barbaric lynching from the banners of a free and orderly representative democracy.

While the United States is in sympathy with movements for peace, it must not discard agencies to defend until there is removed the need to defend.

Enactment of a national budget system.

Less government in business—more business in government.

Suitable inquiry by Congress without haste in accusation of profiteering might speed price readjustment.

The House galleries were crowded with ticket holders who had been fortunate enough to get in line early but the galleries were not large enough to hold all of those who had secured tickets. During President Harding's speech the corridors and stairways were crowded, with others waiting in line to crowd into the galleries as soon as those who had gotten seats came out.

All of the galleries open to the public were filled within an hour, only the executive and diplomatic galleries and the Speaker's row in the members' gallery being reserved for the wives of high officials in the government service.

On every aisle in the gallery was a large camera, which gave the crowded galleries the appearance of being guarded with machine guns trained upon the Speaker's rostrum, where President Harding delivered his first message to Congress.

Occupying the row in the speaker's gallery, specially reserved for the Speaker's wife and friends, were Mrs. Frederick H. Gillett, Mrs. Marshall Field, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Mrs. Frank B. Noyes, Mrs. Wesley Merritt, Mrs. Minot, granddaughter of Senator Lodge, and Woodbury Blair.

In the diplomatic gallery, Representative Stevens Porter of Pennsylvania, chairman of the foreign affairs committee, welcomed the official representatives of the foreign nations. The first to arrive were Senor Don Federico Alfonso Pezet, ambassador from Peru, and the minister from Sweden.

J. Warren Keifer, former Speaker of the House, was a conspicuous figure on the floor of the House where he served from Ohio forty years ago. He wore his customary blue suit of evening clothes.

The rule of the House, which allows members to bring onto the floor during the time that the House is in session, only children under ten years of age, was ignored today by several members, who were unable to get their relatives and friends into the gallery. Representative Strong of Kansas had sitting beside him his daughter, whose engagement was recently announced.

Westfield, Mass., April 12.—Parents have threatened their children bodily harm and even death if they give school authorities further information on ether dragging that has now become popular among many residents, according to investigation made today by School Superintendent Chester N. The Director of the State Department of Health will arrive Wednesday to look into the situation.

KILLS GIRL'S FATHER

Rejected Suitor Then Hangs Himself in Up-State Farmer's Hayloft

Canandaigua, N. Y., April 12.—Wesley Marsh, a prosperous farmer of Richmond, Ontario County, died early today in the Memorial Hospital here from a broken skull. Peter Grandy, who struck him with an axe, is dead, having hanged himself with a line tied to a rafter in a hayloft on the Marsh premises.

The murder and suicide were the result of Grandy's alleged infatuation for Caroline Marsh, 16-year-old daughter of the farmer. The girl's mother was separated from her father and she looked after the home. There are five younger children in the family.

Grandy went to the farm in January from Amsterfort, Pa. His attention to Caroline recently became annoying and she complained to her father, who rebuked Grandy yesterday. Grandy declaredhe would quit and demanded his pay. Marsh said he would get the money today.

After Marsh had retired Grandy went to his bedroom and fractured his skull with an axe. Then he attacked Caroline in her room. Her cries aroused the children, who called neighbors, and Grandy disappeared.

Marsh was buried to Canandaigua but died in a few hours.

Says Pershing Can be Made Chief of Training Camps

Washington, April 12.— General Pershing could be assigned to any of a number of details that would carry with it supervisory authority over the training camps, Secretary Weeks said today in commenting on reports that the General would direct a system of citizens' training camps this summer.

"Beyond that," he said, "I do not care to discuss the matter."

The Secretary added, however, that he expected to make an announcement within a week or ten days covering General Pershing's duties.

Lumber Firm Employes Insist Wages be Cut

Monessen, Pa., April 12.—Employes of the Maraten Gass Lumber Company at Donora, Pa., have insisted that their wages be cut. VISION OF CHAIR CAUSES PRISONER TO END LIFE

Richmond, Va., April 12.—Claude E. Legge, 30 years old, of Leesburg, serving a term of ten years in the Virginia penitentiary, committed suicide yesterday morning by drinking carbolic acid in the prison hospital.

Dr. Herbert Mann, prison surgeon, said Legge was suffering from the idea that he was to be executed. No amount of reasoning could convince him that he wasn't due for the electric chair, Dr. Mann declared.

The execution of a Halifax negro yesterday aggravated Legge's belief that he was to be executed.

Harding Uses Two Inch Lead Pencil In Writing Message to Congress

Washington, April 12.—No longer is the click of a Presidential type writer heard in the study of the Executive Mansion, since President Harding does not use a machine when he writes. He drafted his first message to Congress upon a scratch-pad, with the stub of a lead pencil.

He acquired the lead pencil habit as an editorial writer and has not graduated from it. When the message is completed Secretary Christian will have it transcribed by a White House typist. President Harding does not like to dictate an important piece of composition to a stenographer, but as did his predecessor, he composes his messages and his set speeches single handedly.

Dover, Del. April 12.—Japanese and Chinese are barred from owning property in Delaware through a bill passed by the Legislature and signed by Governor Denney. For two years, alleged representatives of Japanese colonies from California, have been inspecting valuable farmland in Sussex and Kent counties, adjoining Maryland, in some instances obtaining long term options on the land. The opposition to the Orientals led to an agitation that resulted in a bill preventing them from settling in Delaware. The measure is said to be a copy of the bill enacted by the California Legislature.

SALVATION ARMY ADVISORY BOARD

is also in a great measure accomplishing a definite preventative work in smaller communities that might possibly prove breeding spots for crime and social evils is now in process of extension throughout the whole of U. S. A., according to an announcement made yesterday by Major Henry D. Bale, Divisional Commander of the Army. This work is being performed, Major Bale explained, by the formation in each community of a strong advisory board, composed of the responsible business and professional men and women, and is one of the main features of the Salvation Army's home service program for 1921.

"With the enormous backing afforded by the influence and advice of the thousands of men and women, who will comprise the membership of these boards in Virginia, we feel that the Salvation Army will be able to provide constructive remedies for many cases that were previously allowed to go on unchecked," Major Bale said. "This plan of helping each community, and having each community in turn assist the Salvation Army by these advisory boards has already been successfully demonstrated. It is not an experiment. It has been subjected to every test and has come through with flying colors. It has been the experience of the Salvation Army officers who have put the plan in effect in the territory under their jurisdiction that a better community spirit has been fostered and a definite step towards prevention instead of cure of social ills has been accomplished."

Major Bale stated that he expected to have strong advisory boards fully established and functioning in accordance with the Army's plans in every section of this territory within a few months. "In this way" he said, "The whole sixteen major activities of the Salvation Army are placed at the disposal of the community advisory boards, in so far as the needs of the community require them and the service that the Salvation Army can render is limited only by the extent of its personnel and its resources and its institutions."

$60,000 In Drugs Seized On Italian Steamship

New York, April 12.—Arrest of Joseph Leetieri, of Old Forge, Pa., a steerage passenger on an incoming Italian steamship, and seizure of a trunk containing narcotics valued at $60,000 today caused customs inspectors to express belief they had uncovered evidence against an alleged international drug smuggling ring.

Man, Oh Man, They Pay You For Smelling "It"

Uniontown, Pa., April 12.—"Any body want a nice, quiet job with a salary of $150 a month attached to it? All that is necessary is a keen sense of smell."

Such a job is waiting for the man who can fill all the requirements, at the Summit Mountain Hotel, in the Allegheny Mountains, on the National Pike, near this city All that is necessary for the successful applicant to do is to "smell out whisky, and real beer, and be able to distinguish by the odor the real stuff from the one half of one per cent stuff.

Leo L. Heyn, manager of the Summit Hotel, is advertising for a whisky smeller, who must report for duty one week before the opening date of the hotel, April 30.

According to Mr. Heyn, the "whisky smeller" must be a man of irreproachable habits; he must be able to make himself thoroughly at home in each and all kinds of society and he must have the faculty of getting close enough to the guests at the house to be able to determine if they use intoxicating liquor.

In case the "smeller" is convinced beyond peradventure that his nase "has not betrayed him," the man or woman who is declared to have ibibed of the contraband will be instantly ordered to leave the hotel.

JAPANESE SHIP LIBELED FOLLOWING BOOZE SEIZURE

Jacksonville, Fla., April 12.—Seven Japanese sailors, members of the crew of the Japanese steamer Erie Maru, were held in bond of $1,000 each after a preliminary hearing before a Federal commissioner here late yesterday on charges growing out of the seizure last night by Federal officers of 14 cases of whisky alleged to have been brought ashore by the sailors and 12 other cases aboard the steamer.

District Attorney Herbert S. Phillips announced yesterday that libel papers would be served on the vessel tomorrow. An appraisal made by Government officials placed the value of the steamer at $1,000,000.

Federal prohibition officials announced that warrants would be issued charging every member of the crew of the Erie Maru and Capt. M. Tamboyachi with violation of the national prohibition laws. Captain Tamboyachi is ill aboard ship. The officers said they were under instructions from D. J. Gantt, in charge of prohibition enforcement for the gulf division, to make a test case of the affair.

The ship's manifest officers said, showed only 13 quarts of liquor as being aboard the vessel.

Yuletide "Prescriptions" Cost Physicians His License

New York, April 12.—There is nothing about the Christmas season that makes it necessary to drink whisky.

Prohibition Director O'Connor has revoked the permit of Dr. Donald McCaskey to write liquor prescriptions on the doctor's admission that he gave prescriptions to thirty-five employes of a fashionable hotel here at Christmas time "because they needed it."

The physician is making a test of the director's alleged powers to pass on a phyisician's professional conduct.

Two Men Riddle Home of Magistrate With Bullets

Greenville, S. C. April 12.—The home of Magistrate A. D. Plumley, about twenty-five miles above Greenville, was riddled with bullets about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The magistrate has been active in raiding illicit distilleries.

The magistrate was awakened by two men who called out that their automobile had broken down. The moment he opened the door, several shots were fired. The magistrate locked the door. The men continued to fire at the house. The magistrate returned the fire, but his bullets, apparently, went wide.

Luray Man is Shot. Assailant Escapes

Luray, Va., April 12.—Reports reached Luray yesterday of a probable serious shooting affair at Washington, the county seat of Rappahannock County, thirty miles east of Luray, in which Walter Miller, son of a former sheriff of that county, is reported to have been shot last night while on the streets of that town. One version of the affair is that Miller was shot either by a man named Sisk or Jenkins. Another report is that the shooting was done by a man named Butler, who is alleged to have made his escape.

Authorities in Luray have been notified to keep a watch-out for the fugitive. Miller is said to have been shot entirely through the body, the ball passing through his liver. The wounded man was hurried to the Winchester Hospital.

Man, Smoking, Leaps off Brooklyn Bridge as Cameras Click

New York, April 11.—While motion picture cameras clicked on the deck of a tug in the East river yesterday, Daniel Carone, 27, of Mount Vernon, puffing a cigarette, leaped from the center of Brooklyn bridge and was picked up in the water, 133 feet below alive, and unharmed. It was his second jump from the structure, the first being made in 1915.

A policeman saw Carone spring from an automobile on the south roadway and climb a steel girder. He shouted and ran toward him, but before he could reach him Carone plunged into space.

Carone said he also had jumped but saw his body strike the water. He soon appeared and began to swim toward the tug. In 50 strokes he had reached the craft and was hauled aboard amid cheers.

Carone said he also had jumped off London bridge and High bridge in Glasgow, Scotland.

Court O. K. For Wives Who Go Through 'Em

Chicago, Ill., April 12.—The comic page process of friend wife going through hubby's jeans for her pocket money while the latter slumbers received indorsement of Judge Hayes in Sheffield Avenue Court today.

At least Judge Hayes held the victimized hubby shouldn't lock his spouse out on the back porch in her "nightie" in the cool of a spring morning because of her action in taking a trousers' invoice. The case was that of Charles Stern.

Gen. Sherwood, at Age of 85, Becomes Reporter in House

Washington, April 12.—One of the new reporters in the House press gallery yesterday was former Representative Sherwood, Democrat, Ohio, who at the age of 85 began to watch Congressional proceedings for a Toledo newspaper.

After serving seven terms General Sherewood, who is also a veteran of the civil war, retired from office March 4. During the last session he was the oldest member of the House.

"He threw me out of the house in my nightgown at 5 o'clock Saturday morning," Stern's wife testified. "I begged for two hours to get in and finally crawled back through a window. Then he threw me out again with my trunk after me."

"I caught her searching my pants for money," explained Charles.

"Well, she had as much right to the contents as you have," was Judge Hayes' decision. "Fifty dollars and costs."

GEORGIA PLANTER FACES EIGHT NEW CHARGES

Monticello, Ga., April 12.—Indictments were returned here yesterday by the Jasper county grand jury against John S. Williams, his three sons, Huland, Marvin and Leroy, and Clyde Manning, his negro boss, charging murder in connection with the deaths of 14 negroes on the Williams plantation.

Eight indictments were found against John S. Williams charging murder of eight farm hands, whose bodies were recently found buried in pastures on his farm or were dragged from nearby rivers. Eight indictments also were returned against Clyde Manning for the same killings.

Huland Williams was indicted for the killing of a negro named "Black Strap."

The jury will continue tomorrow investigation of the recent alleged lynching of Eugene Hamilton.

The investigation was begun yesterday morning and Superior Judge Parks, in charging the jurors, declared that unless the law acted to check "these cold blooded murders and outrages, I firmly believe God Almighty will soon take the situation in hand."

John S. Williams, owner of the socalled "murder farm," was convicted of the murder of one of the negroes in Newton county last week and sentenced to life imprisonment.

EX-KAISER TO BE ABSENT AT FUNERAL OF WIFE

Berlin, April 12.—The former Kaiser Wilhelm Hohenzollern will not enter Germany on the occasion of his wife's burial next Saturday at Potsdam. Dispatches from his residence at Doorn in Holland seem definitely to show this is the final decision of the exiled Emperor.

Only a few weeks ago, when the death of the Kaiserin momentarily was expected, the former Kaiser, it is said, planned to accompany her body to the imperial tombs near Berlin. The monarchists were preparing a great demonstration to exploit the mourning of the people for the return of the throne. The return of King Constantine to Greece gave them their main assurance.

Since that time, however, the former Emperor Karl has been driven out of Hungary under the determined pressure of the people and of the Entente while Constantine himself is none too sure in his palace. Moreover the Dutch Government has notified the former Kaiser that if he leaves Holland, he will not be permitted to return.

Under the present arrangements the body of the Kaiserin will be placed tomorrow in a specially built automobile, which has been at Doorn for considerable time. This automobile will take the coffin to the railway station three miles distant. There it will be put on a special train, after which by agreement between the Dutch and German Governments it will be permitted to proceed without delay to Potsdam. The former Kaiser will ride with the body to the train and will remain on the train until the first stop which will be at the frontier. From there, it is said, he will return to Doorn.

The members of the Royal family and suite will proceed with the body to Potsdam, where the burial will take place Saturday.

Harris, Who Faked Elwell Confession, Is Set Free

Buffalo, N. Y., April 12.—Roy Harris was free dfrom custody hre at noon today after he had signed a declaration stating that his confession of complicity in the murder of Joseph B. Elwell in New York last June was faked. Harris swore to the truth of his last statement before Justice Wesley U. Dudley in Supreme Court chambers.

No other charge having been preferred against Harris, he walked out of the court a free man, arm in arm with his wife, who had been previously released from a police station where she had been held as a witness.

Three Ministers, Priest And Ex-Governor on Disagreeing Jury

Little Rock Ark., April 12.—The jury in the case of Emanuel West, negro, charged with assaulting a white woman, was discharged today after failing to reach an agreement.

The jury, which had in its personnel three Protestant ministers, a Catholic priest and a former Governor, stood seven for conviction and five for acquittal, it was stated.

ONE YEAR TERM FOR BOY WHO STOLE $96,000

Chicago, April 12.—"Motion that Francis J. Carey be sentenced," drowned the clerk in the court yesterday.

Judge Landis was writing busily.

He glanced up,shot one piercing look, half quizzical, at the youth who has caused him so much trouble, and said:

"Motion granted, Francis, you are sentenced to serve one year in the National Training School for Boys, in Washington, D. C."

The boy ducked his head, but Judge Landis did not see it. He was busy writing again. A marshal stepped up, and the case of Frank J. Carey was closed. The school to which he is sentenced is the Federal equivalent of the State reform school.

This is the case of the young Ottawa, Ill., bank clerk who stole $96,000 last November. The case came before Judge Landis, who criticized the bank officials for paying an employe who handled such sums of money only $95 a month.

Followed then a great outcry, chiefly led by Senator Dial, of South Carolina, and Representative Welty, of Ohio, who demanded that Judge Landis be removed from office. The controversy became nationwide. Public and press, practically without exception, stood by Judge Landis, and the talk of impeachment proceedings speedily faded.

Times have changed but Piedmonts—never!

YOU haven't noticed any change in Piedmonts. No, sir!

Taste just as good today as they did twenty years ago—same prime Virginia tobacco and the same real tobacco flavor.

Yes, sir, Piedmonts are "standing pat".

Why? Because Piedmonts are straight Virginia tobacco. And everybody that "knows," knows that's the best for cigarettes.
